

Liquid Flow Battery Lightning Protection for Australian Telecommunications Base Stations

Overview

What is a lightning protection system?

Lightning protection systems, in tandem with the earthing system dissipates and controls lightning strikes and other over voltages that may adversely affect the transmission system.

What are lightning protection and earthing systems?

Lightning protection and earthing systems are an essential part of the transmission system.

How effective is lightning protection in GSM base stations?

Simulation tests on the selected base station facility, made up of a container with telecommunication and power supply equipment and an antenna tower with two antennas, showed a high degree of stochastic efficiency of the lightning protection system. Čaršimamović, A., Čaršimamović, S.: Protection of GSM base stations from lightning discharges.

Who is LPI lightning protection?

LPI is a fully Australian-owned designer, manufacturer and supplier of innovative solutions in the areas of direct strike lightning protection, earthing & bonding, and surge & transient protection. We provide comprehensive and effective lightning protection. LPI has identified four essential steps to ensure complete facility protection every time.
