

Solar panel bending board manufacturer

Overview

---

What does a sheet metal bending operator do?

The operator positions the sheet metal on the worktable and collects the product after bending, performing only the loading and unloading operations.

Why should you choose a P4 bending machine?

The P4 amazes with its configuration potential and performance: productive and flexible, it can be independent, work in a flexible cell or be installed in an automatic factory. The upper and lower blades are the two tools featuring interpolated controlled movement and responsible for bending.

Why should you choose a Salvagnini P2 panel bender?

The P2 seduces with its high technological content, low energy consumption and compact layout, without forgetting the productivity and flexibility typical of Salvagnini panel benders.

What is the bending formula?

Developed over the years, the bending formula defines the force and manages the movements of the universal tools, analyzing different parameters in real time, including deflections, temperature and thickness, guaranteeing the precision, repeatability and quality of the finished product.
