

Wellington companies using flow batteries

Overview

What are the current commercial flow battery chemistries?

Current commercial flow batteries are based on vanadium- and zinc-based flow battery chemistries. Typical flow battery chemistries include all vanadium, iron-chromium, zinc-bromine, zinc-cerium, and zinc-ion.

What is a flow battery?

A flow battery is an electrochemical cell that converts chemical energy into electrical energy through ion exchange across an ion-selective membrane. It separates two liquid electrolytes stored in separate tanks. Typical flow battery chemistries include all vanadium, iron-chromium, zinc-bromine, zinc-cerium, and zinc-ion.

How will the flow battery market grow?

The flow battery market is expected to grow significantly as the share of renewables increases in the primary energy mix. Despite their higher CapEx cost compared to lithium-ion batteries, flow batteries are expected to be used extensively for both front-of-the-meter and behind-the-meter applications in the next several years.

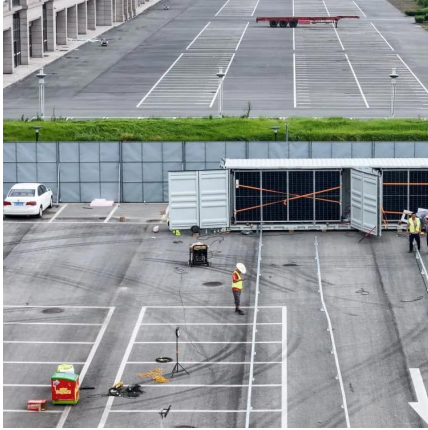

Where do flow battery startups work?

Based on the heat map, we see high startup activity in the USA, followed by the UK and Germany. These flow battery startups work on solutions ranging from grid-scale energy storage and novel battery materials to battery recycling and organic flow batteries.
